the Democratic organization throughout the Morth:

"We have steadfastly stood by the rights of the South as seoured by the Constitution. We have deemed it not only a political, but also a moral obligation, to fulfill toward them in its spirit, every duty imposed by the federal compact. We shall continue to do our duty to our fellow-countrymen and friends in that quarter of the nation, and oppose and denounce those who unjustly assail them or their rights. But our action must be within the Constitution and the Union.—

We can nelther go out of the Union, nor aid or justify others in going out. Fellow-countrymen and fellow-democrats of the South—we will stand side by side with you to the last in the defence of your and our rights under the Constitution, and with the fing of the Union floating over us—but should you turn your backs upon that flag and desert it, you will, by the same act, turn year backs upon us and separate from us. God grant that the seperation may never occur."

And I said, "how long ?!" [Sensation.]—I the warrior, indeed, rests. He knows no wakings—nor word, on wish, nor prayer can recall him from his lone abade. I was told the other day an anecdote of the Queen, which illustrates her good sense and real desirs to promote the welfare of her subjects. She had agreed to have her photo-graph taken for the gratification of such of subjects as might desirs to possess the counsubjects as might desire to possess the counterfeit presentment of their ruler. She presented herself in a plain black silk, without a particle of ornament. The potographer ventured to suggest that she should send for some jewels. "No," said the Queen, "this photograph is to go among my people, and I wish to do all in my power to discourage extra agence." It is such little anecdots as these that have secured the Queen a bish place in the regard of the People. I and I wish to do all in my power to discourage extravagence." It is such little anocodes as these that have secured the Queen a high place in the regard of the people. I have everywhere heard her spoken of with affectionate respect.

Col. Baker in California-A Great Demon-

Correspondence of the N. Y. Times SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27, 1860. Last night we had the greatest political demonstration of the season. It was the occasion of the new Oregon Senator, Col. Baker's welcome. His friends rallied in such throngs, in and about the American Theatre, as never were packed into, and spilled out of, any building in California, to hear any man, before. Everybody was there, and hosts of ladies beside. The Colonel was equal to the emergency: He had hard work to make his Popular Sovereignty and his thorough bred Republicanism travel in harness together without hitching, but he did it. He took back nothing of the Popular Sovereignty of his Oregon speeches, nor bated a hair of his Oregon speeches, nor bated a hair of his old irrepressible up-to-the-handle Anti-Slavery. He rade along the lines drawn up for the battle, assuring the timid, confirming the courageous.

He spoke two hours and a quarter, and nota fellow budged an inch from hie seat till be backed or difference. Baker's welcome. His friends rallied in not a fellow budged an inch from his seat till he had ended. He takes down and puts out of sight all others of our Pacific crators. He is merry, by instinct, in his most serious arguments. How he sometimes carries away his audience, an incident will show. He had been saying that "even where despeism is rife, ideas of personal liberty are thriv-ing. Even under the shadow of the throne of Russia—on the banks of the Seine, where the ashes of the first Napoleon repose—where the British Queen in majestic dignity presides over a nation of freemen—everywhere abroad, the great ideas of personal liberty spread, increase, fructify. Here—ours is like the exception! In this home of the ex-ile, in this land of constitutional liberty, it is left for us to leach the world that Slavery marches in solemn procession! that under the American stars Slavery has protection, and the name of Freedom must be faintly breathed—the songs of Freedom must be faintly sung! Garibaldi, Victor Emanuel. hosts of good men, are praying, fighting dy-ing on scaffolds, in dangeons, oftener yet on battle-fields for Freedom. And while this great procession marches under the arches of iberly, we alone shrink back, trembling. and alraid, when Freedom is but mentioned."

The audience cheered, of course, but a remarks.

"In the presence of God—I say it reve ently—freedom is the rule and slavery but the exception. It is a marked, guarded, pro-tracted exception. There it stands. If even public opinion must not be allowed to visit its dusty cheek too roughly, be it so; but go no further than the terms of the compact. We are a city set on a hill; our light cannot be hid. As for me, I date not, I will not be faise to freedom. [Cheers.] Where the feet of my youth were planted, there, by freedom, shall my feet ever stand. I will walk bereath her banner. I will glory in her steameth.

The whole audience, rising as the orator took his sest, cheered him. It was half after 10, and he had spoken an hour and a quarter. But crowded as the house was, end suffocating in the gallories, not a dozen who succeeded in getting within sight of him, retired before the close. There were many ladies in the aisles of the dress circle who stood to the last, but would not leave.

For our part our course is already taken. new profession of their political faith, it Publishes such statements as the following in its Southern correspondence:

All the Cosciliatory letters that "Old Abe" could write for a mouth would be of no avait in staying the progress of this movement. The South made his election the tenne of distances. He point after entering upon the duties of his office sous never once contemplated in determining this letter.

This is a frank avowal of the preconceived

A Philiful Threat. The Richmond correspondent of the N. Y

Herald writes: Merical Willes:

"I was informed to-day that in case of any attempt on the part of the North to course any of the secencing States, hosts of Minute Mon will enteryour North-ten cities, and plander and rankack by way of retailation. In this enterprise they will initiate the co-operation of the deprayed and vicious in those cities, upon the stipulation of an equal chare of the plunder. This came to me from a very high source."

This of course, is only one of their "seni-

This, of course, is only one of their "sensation" items with which the columns of the Herald now daily teems. But what must these southern "correspondents" think of the people in the North, that they attempt to frighten them from their propriety by such silly threats? We should admire to see these "Minute Men" invading New all the "hoste" that could be mustered for such a fray.

A Voice from Georgia. Extract from a letter dated the 10th inst., from a highly to spectable and responsible merchant in the interior of Georgia, to a friend in St. Louis:

Surely the President elect of the United States is entitled to as much. "Strike, but hear!" is the sentiment, alike of justice, and of true courses. He is a more moral cowerd. of true courses. He is a poor moral coward who is afraid to listen to the self-defence of who is direct to insten to the self-defend of his victim, or so insecure in his own position that he dare not give to the accused the chance to vindicate himself. — Memphis (Tenn.) A REPUBLICAN PROM THE START. The Egglag Affair at Montgomery-The Way to Dissolve the Union. From the New York Tribune. The fire-enters procured the holding of the Democratic National Convention of 1800 at Charleston, S. C., in order to pull the party further Southward in their candidates and further Southward in their candidates and platform. That Convention met accordingly and offered them the Cincinnati platform with the Dred Scott decision annexed, which was as effectual a repudiation of squatter sovereignty as could be desired. Dred Scott ism and territorial popular sovereignty are as incompatible as fire and gunpowder. But the "Chivalry" were not content to have the cyster—they must have the last shell each of the content to have the cyster—they must have the last shell each of the content to have the cyster—they must have the last shell each of the cyster—they must have the last shell each of the cyster—they must have the best shell each of the cyster—they must have the best shell each of the cyster—they must have the best shell each of the cyster—they must have the best shell each of the cyster—they must have the best shell each of the cyster of the cy to see these "Minnte Men" invading New also—and, failing to secure it, they boiled. York and attempt to sack and plander it. This bolt threw the Convention into the all the "hosts" that could be mustered for their onief. There was no intent to nominate Douglas on the part of the majority; but the "Chivalry" acted so as to preclude nate Douglas on the part of the majority; but the "Chivalry" acided so as to preclude only other result. And, Douglas being nominated, they put up a boiting ficket, and deliberatety broke down their party.

American Watches. MADE BY THE AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY, AT WALTHAM, MASS.

Attention is invited to the following statement and the accompanying tetters of recommendation and testimonials, in favor of these celebrated Watch.

A gold medal was awarded the Company by the American Institute at New York in 1817. The Company also received the first premium : gold medal from the Franklin Institute, Philadel These Watches have now been in market for near-iy ten years, during which time they have been tes ted as to accuracy, durability, and reliability in every conceivable manner, and have proved themselve to be the most satisfactory time-preces ever offere-This result has been brought about by a strict application of mechanical science to the construc-tion of the Watch from its very inception, render-ing it when finished, mathematically correct in alits proportions, and necessarily as parfect a time heeper as it is possible to make.

The Company have tested their Watches in many instances, by actual daily noting, and the result of this test has been that they have exhibited a rate equal in regularity to the best marine chronome

AMERICAN WATCHES. - Meerly a rear ago, we re selved from Massrs. Mobbins & Apploton, General Agents of the American Watch Company, and post for a good looking watch, "warranted," with the fault to find with the way it has ticked the time. W do not wont a better timepiece than this has proved to be thus far. Once regulated (and we regulated it ourself) it has succeely varied a half minute a mon'n from "transit time." Added to its quality as a good time keeper, it is honestly and substantially made Were we going to purchase, we should prefer an American watch.

Office of the Tribune, } New York, Oct 27, 1859. } American Watch Company, Walthem, Gentlemen, Haring carried one of your watches for the last eight years, I can say confidently that they will do, and may be bought with assurance that they will keep time. I believe the watch unjurpessed. Honack Gamei vy. Horace Greekey, New York, Aug. 2, 1980.

Genilemen-In reply to yours of 25th mits, we take pleasure in stating that the American watch now i use upon our railroad, has varied only six seconds, in a listle over six months.

Buspectfully,

8. W. & W. A. Tornsy,

Contractors on the Rar, and Del. Bay H. H. Mr. R. B. Robbins, Treasurer Amer, Watch Co.: Door Sir-It gives me great pleasure to comply with your request for a report of the performance of the American Watch I purchased of you Dec. 2, 1859. It was set on that day, and the variation from true time to the 29th of February, 1859, when I jet is run down, was ten accoud fast. From that time to the present, 3: has run with nearly perfect stendiness, having during the eight months remained at from seven to nine seconds fast, and this with un commonly rough usage. I can commend your man ulacture in the highest terms. Yours truly,

JAMES H. CLAPP,
Firm of Clapp, Faller & Brown, Bankers, Boston.

The following named gentlemen may be reforre to in relation to these Watches: Hon. Hannibai Hamlin, Me, ; John G. Saze, Vermont N. P. Willis, New York; Hon. N. P. Banke, Mass Horace Greeley; Frank Leshe; Cyrus W. Field, New York: Wm. H. Cary, N. Y.; Paul Morphy, New Orleans; Norman World, Wis Paul Morphy, Now Orleans; Norman Ward, Wis-Dr. J. York CAUTION.—As our Watch is now extensively counterfetted by foreign manufacturers, we have to inform the public that no watch is of our produc-tion which is unaccompanied by a certificate of gen-uineness, bearing the number of the watch, and signed by our Treasurer, R. R. Roublins, or by our predecessors, Appleton, Tracy & Co. As these watches are for sale by jewelers generally throughout the Union, the American Waton Corpany do not solicit orders for single watches.

ON BOARD THE STEAMER September winds are soft and warm, September nights are clear; The wierd moon slies in haste to greet The autumn of the year. Her beams are wrestling with the waves On Michigan's broad take—
They struggle, feint, and fall away In many a silver flake.

Our steamer, gay with waving flage, Our steamer, gay with while nage, And hanners rich and tare, Swept proudly from Chicago's wharves, While music rent the air.
Out to the take with mirth and song, Went twenty score of souls; Along the line of laughing waves The Jovial monster rolls,

The moonlight fell in shimmaring streams About our steamer's deck,
And glanced on many a nodding plume,
And many a snow-white neck.
Quick feet were moving in the dance
To music's liveliest strain.

White whispering lovers breathed their tales Of old loves o'er again. Twas long beyond the midnight hour, And white salls allied by;
While still the musle, laugh, and song
Went ringing to the sky;
Till one white, ghost-like, hurrying craft
Swept on with wind and tide,
Crashed, reckless of our warning, through
The gallant steamer's side.

I've read in some old fairy tale

Of cities yast and lone,
Where every living, moving thing
Turned suddenly to stone.
And so, that instant with the crash,
All life seemed hashed in death,
All life seemed hashed in death,
With terror-bated breath.

The heavy surging of the sea,
The rushing of the steam. The rushing of the steam or prayer, Was heard instead of groan or prayer, Of shricking or of scream; And then, as though the silence waked 'The stony-footed crowd, Our deaks were wild with palld forms, That wep; and sobbed aloud.

Oh God! it was a fearful time-Short time for thought or prayer-When twenty reore of deathly ories Rang out upon the air.
North, eart, south west, they strained their eyes
Along the motalit waves;
Then, hopeless, their in stolld fear
Above their waiting graves.

Then how they clang in shivering groups, As pitched our steamer through The deep trough of the silent sen, So deep and dark and bite? Then how they hold their abrieking breaths With every mosaing roll, And each poor, shrinking, skinken wrotch, Foured out his money soul!

I would not for the wealth of worlds fee such a sight again, Lest all the horror of that night Should burn into my brain.
To stand, with neither land nor sail within my straining eye, and see some twenty score in life Preparing them to die.

So soon the minutes fled away
They seconds seemed to be,
Before our ship and living freight
Went down beneath the zen.
Down, down, and forty fathers deep,
With prayer upon my tongue,
My hope a shred of splintered spar,
To which I madly clong.

The nex: I knew the moon shone down Upon a shipless sen, where some and scores of drowning men Called hopelessly to me.
The wind blew fresh toward the shore, And curled the silver wave;
The wind that wafted me to life Lapped many a deep- sea grave.

I stood alone upon the beach,
As broke the morning's gray,
And watched with frozen heart the specks
That Busted far away;
And while I prayed for those after,
Beneath God's awkit frown,
I prayed that I should never yee
Another ship go down.

The Tribeno of this morning says:

A few of the banks refuse to sell exchange, even to customers, but matters have become a little more settled, and the majority are supplying their customers aparingly at 3 per cost, promise. Outsiders, if accommodated at all, are charged 5 per cent, and this is the current sired rate. Some of our Water Birsel is the current sired rate. Some of our Water Birsel dealers have been acting freely at that rate. The marginin the buying price is wide, ranging from 2@ 2%.

marginin the buying price is wise, ranking from 122-22.

Many suppose that the present high rates of exultance are the result of a combination of our city bankers. The imputation is unfair and unjust. The supply on hand is limited, and the high rates in the supply on hand is limited, and the high rates in the present or less are the only means by which they can protect themselves from drawing down balances to merely nominal figures. What they have is sold sparingly to customers at 2 per cent, while 4 and 5 per cent, premium: is freely effered by outsiders.

Gold is nominal at 250-22 buying; celling 3605 per cent, premium. The usual sales are made at near if not quite the upper figure.
